The Portuguese international footballer Nani, was advised by Abreu Advogados, on the signing of his two season contract with the Australian club Melbourne Victory.

The team from Abreu Advogados that assisted during this operation was led by Fernando Veiga Gomes, partner and co-coordinator of the sports practice area of Abreu, with the participation of a multidisciplinary team from the firm.

The transfer of the player to the Australian club occurs after the termination, by mutual agreement, of his contract until 2023 with the Italian club Venezia FC.

Abreu Advogados has been advising on previous transfers of the player, such as the move from Valencia to Sporting, in July 2018, and the contract signed with Orlando City Soccer Club, a team from the North American football league, Major League Soccer, in February 2019.
