Allen & Overy has advised Eni on the acquisition, through Eni gas e luce, of Dhamma Energy

Group from the relevant founding partners

The company holds a platform for the development of solar plants in France and Spain. Dhamma's asset portfolio comprises an almost 3GW pipeline of projects at various stages of development across both countries and includes plants already in operation or in advanced development generating around 120 MW in France.

The acquisition is part of Eni's plan to achieve expansion targets for renewable power generation capacity and integrate with its retail activities in the French and Spanish markets. Completion of the transaction is subject to the achievement of the customary authorisations.

The Allen & Overy cross-country and cross-department team was led and coordinated by Italy Corporate partner Paolo Ghiglione, supported by trainee Matteo Bortolamai, with teams in Luxembourg, France and Spain.
