Ashurst has promoted associates Jose Carlos Rodea Juaneda and Sam Tetlow to senior associate

Two new senior associates have been promoted in Ashurst Madrid office; Jose Carlos Rodea Juaneda, from the Tax department and Sam Tetlow, from the Banking and Finance English desk

Carlos Rodea Juaneda (pictured right) graduated in Law & Economy from Universidad Carlos III de Madrid and holds a Bachelor degree in Social Sciences from the University of Kent. He also holds a Master's degree in Business Taxation from Universidad Pontificia Comillas. Before joining Ashurst as a Tax associate, he worked in the M&A Transaction Tax department at PwC Tax & Legal and, before that, he was a Transaction Tax advisor at EY.

Sam Tetlow (pictured left) is a Law graduate from Kaplan Law School and also holds a Bachelor degree in German and History from the University of Nottingham. He joined Ashurst in 2013 and has been a Banking & International Finance associate since 2015.
