BROSETA continues to grow and has opened an office in Barcelona

The opening of BROSETA in Barcelona has been carried out through the integration of a team of more than 50 professionals, led by partners Toni de Weest Prat, Álvaro Gámez and José María Rebollo. With this integration, BROSETA now has a team of more than 220 lawyers and consultants, 40 of whom are partners.

BROSETA's Barcelona office will have, in this first phase, more than fifty professionals, 45 of them lawyers, working in all areas of business law and in specialties such as agri-food, arbitration, banking and finance, compliance, entrepreneurship, tax, real estate, environmental, M&A, urban planning, restructuring and insolvency and regulatory law, among others.

Manuel Broseta, chairman of BROSETA said, "Our presence in Barcelona is an absolutely important milestone for the organisation and is the result of an exhaustive process of evaluating opportunities in the region. Barcelona is a place with intense business activity and a first-rate reference for entrepreneurship and for the professional development of projects linked to digitalization and business investment, and in this scenario we want to be advisors of reference for companies. The deep knowledge of the local business network and its needs by the team that joins this project, together with our expertise and our current portfolio of clients with interests in the region, make us start this new stage with large doses of energy, enthusiasm and optimism".

Toni de Weest Prat, for his part said, "An extraordinary challenge and a very exciting project for our team to be part of a Firm with the reputation, the positioning, the portfolio of clients we will be able to help and the ambitious growth plan of BROSETA. This new stage that we are starting together with a group of people who, in addition to professional excellence, share our values and culture, will strengthen our capabilities and will contribute to continue supporting our clients in their development".

BROSETA's office in Barcelona is the firm's third physical location in Spain, together with the presence in Valencia, since its origins, and in Madrid, since 2007.

Additionally, BROSETA has had an office in Lisbon since 2018.
