Cases & Lacambra has opened an office in Miami in an effort to become a “key law firm for investments from Andorra, Spain and Europe in Latin America, the US and Canada”.

Cases & Lacambra already has three offices in Andorra, Barcelona and Madrid.

The firm said the Miami office will initially be staffed by four professionals led by partner Daniela Pretus.

A Cases & Lacambra statement said the firm's founding partners, Miguel Cases and Ernesto Lacambra, had decided to open in Miami as the city for two key reasons: "To strengthen the position of Cases&Lacambra as a key law firm for investments from Andorra, Spain and Europe in Latin America, USA and Canada, and give support to strategic operations from Latin America and North America in Andorra, Spain and Europe.

Cases said: "We are aware of the important strategic point that this city represents and it is organic growth in line with our philosophy – an international business law firm with a Latin and Atlantic view."
