CCSL Advogados has strengthened the Private Clients and Immigration area with the integration of André Reis de Pinho.

The lawyer started his professional career as a consultant at Deloitte, moving to EDGE International Lawyers, where he focused on advising non-habitual residents and high net worth individuals. He later joined Legalsquare, where he was responsible for supporting private clients, focusing on third-country nationals.

For José Calejo Guerra, managing partner and responsible for the Private Clients area, "the integration of André, with experience in the Tax and Immigration areas, results in the ideal combination, which we have been looking for in the market for some time, and which we understand be the right one to provide the best response to the needs of Private Clients, such as high net worth individuals, non-habitual residents and other foreign investors wishing to reside in Portugal. The focus on consolidating this area of practice is part of the firm's policy of sustained growth and stems from the consistent and growing interest in our country on the part of foreign investors, combined with the growing diversification of our clients' needs."
