Ceca Magán has incorporated Ana Gómez Hernández as new partner for the labour department of the firm

Gómez (pictured), who is currently president of the National Association of Labour Lawyers (ASNALA), has almost twenty years of experience in labour law, having worked in leading law firms, with particular emphasis on procedures related to collective bargaining, social security, and numerous litigations before labour and administrative courts, and advising on more than a thousand labour-related operations.

According to the firm, her incorporation reinforces this strategic area of the firm, which currently has more than 30 lawyers in the labour field
