Cremades & Calvo-Sotelo has hired Tomás Poveda (pictured left) as a new partner in Sevilla.

The firm's new partner holds a law degree from the Complutense University of Madrid and is a specialist in public management from the University of Navarra.

Previously, he was managing director of Casa de América and is currently one of the co-founders of Mobergy.

From now on, Poveda, who is an expert in international relations, will assume the responsibility of leading a department for attracting and advising on Ibero-American investments at Cremades & Calvo-Sotelo.
