Cuatrecasas has advised César Alierta on the sale of his shares in Real Zaragoza to a powerful investment group

Cuatrecasas has advised the former president of Telefónica, César Alierta, who until now was the main shareholder of Real Zaragoza, S.A.D., on the sale of 51% of the football club's share capital, to a powerful investment group specialised in sports management.

With this agreement, Real Zaragoza has achieved the involvement of a group of solvent investors made up of experts in the field, who seek to boost the club financially so that it can once again compete at the highest tier of Spanish football. However, the sale operation has been subject to the fulfillment of two conditions: mathematical permanence in the second division and obtaining authorisation from the Higher Sports Council for the acquisition of the shares.
