Barcelona transport operator, Transports Metropolitans de Barcelona (TMB), has spent more than €1 million in legal fees in the last two years, with €600,000 of the total being paid to Cuatrecasas.

The figures indicate that TMB's legal spend is increasing dramatically, largely because of disputes with the Comité de Empresa de Metro, according to sources.

While the TMB spent just over €1 million in the period 2017-18, it spent the same amount in the four-year period 2011-15, according to reports.
