Alicante-based law firm Devesa & Calvo has promoted José Luis Valverde to Labour partner

José Luis Valverde (pictured) has been the head of the firm's Labour practice since his incorporation in 2017 after 15 years in Alicante-based Adire Abogados.

Throughout his professional career, Valverde has managed numerous cases involving collective bargaining, downsizing, employment agreements, labour incidents in administration proceedings, dismissal proceedings and compensation. This know-how, along with his sound overall view of business practice, make José Luis Valverde a reputed Labour lawyer.

He is a Law graduate from the Universidad de Alicante and a specialist in Labour Bankruptcy Law by Wolters Kluwer.

"José Luis is an excellent professional in the field of Business Law, mainly in the area of Labour Law. A tireless worker and mediator, his technical capacity makes him a very valuable ally for all the companies he advises, minimising contingencies with their workers," said David Devesa, managing partner of Devesa & Calvo.

Devesa & Calvo has offices in Alicante and Valencia, and has maintained a strategy of expansion and constant growth since 2007, when it launched its first office in Benidorm.
