Ecija has hired Sandra García (pictured) as a partner in the intellectual property (IP) area in the city of Barcelona.

García is a lawyer graduated from the Universidad Autónoma de Madrid. She also holds a master's degree in intellectual property and new technologies from the Universidad de Alicante and a master's degree in EU law from the Universidad Autónoma de Madrid.

With more than 20 years of experience, Sandra García specialises in litigation and advice on industrial and intellectual property matters, more specifically in patent, design, trademark, copyright, unfair competition and advertising law.

Previously, she developed her professional career as head of the IP area at Auren. Currently, she is also a lecturer in IP law and collaborates with various institutions, including the Barcelona Bar Association.
