Barcelona office as a Public Law partner

Silvia Mañá (pictured) is specialised in Public Law, with a special focus on providing advice to Public Administrations, regional bodies and public companies of the Public Administration, as well as investment funds, private companies and individuals. Throughout her career, she has gained and consolidated professional experience in consultancy services on matters such as Administrative Law, Urban Law, Environment, Public Contracting and Regulated Sectors, as well as in the litigation field, being the legal lead in judicial proceedings in Contentious-Administrative Litigation.

She is a Law graduate from Univerisidad Pompeu Fabra and holds a Master's degree in Territorial Law from the same university. She combines her professional practice with teaching Contentious-Administrative Litigation in the Double Degree in Business Administration and Law, as well as being responsible for the "Public Intervention in Economics" course within the Bachelor's Degree in Law at ESADE University. She also collaborates as a teacher at the Barcelona Bar Association, in the Master's Degree in Urban Law and in the Contentious-Administrative Litigation Procedure Course.

She joins the Fieldfisher JAUSAS Barcelona office from Tornos Abogados, where she headed the Real Estate practice, and has also worked at Cuatrecasas and Roca Junyent.
