Garrigues Portugal has counselled Feedzai on a round of investment totalling $200 million, considered the first of this magnitude negotiated from Portugal

The Lisbon office of Garrigues has advised Feedzai, a world leader in risk management and anti-fraud based on machine learning and artificial intelligence, in a round of investment totalling $200 million. It was led by the American Private Equity firm KKR. This investment round has valued the company at $1.3 billion and included the participation of Sapphire Ventures and Citi Ventures.

"This is the first time that an investment round of this magnitude, raising a company to unicorn status, is negotiated and implemented entirely from Portugal", said a spokesperson from Garrigues.
