

INVESTORS INCREASINGLY TARGETING AGROBUSINESS AND TECHNOLOGY IN LATIN AMERICA

Posted on 08/08/2018

Category: Videos

Colombia and Mexico and other large markets report the highest level of business activity, says Raquel Flórez, partner and co-head for Latin America at Freshfields Bruckhaus Deringer. However, Central America is increasingly on the radar of international investors, thus generating more work for international law firms.

Meanwhile, most countries in the region are doing their homework and pushing for more anti-corruption efforts in order to attract more international investment.