PORTUGAL TOP LAW FIRMS BY REVENUE

In this issue, Iberian Lawyer's research reveals its annual Top 30 Portuguese law firms revenue ranking, showing that, although 2020 is already the most challenging year in recent times, the 2019 fiscal year was a positive one for law firms in Portugal.

Despite the unusual year, Iberian Lawyer highlights the 60 top women in the legal sector from Spain and Portugal, recognising the important work carried out by top women lawyers in the Iberian Peninsula in InspiraLaw.

In our in-house section, we interviewed Juan Ignacio Pardo, head of the Legal and Compliance area of Meliá Hotels International, who tells us how one of the most important chains in our country has experienced the business stoppage caused by COVID-19.

Other features include:

- .- An analysis of Private Equity Real Estate investments by experts from Freshfields and KKR.
- .- A look at how the pandemic will redefine workspaces, by architects from Volta and Rafael de La-Hoz.
- .- An interview with Ferran Foix, Gómez Acebo & Pombo's London office managing partner, in our section "Partners Abroad."
- .- An interview with Filipa Salazar Leite, head of Legal and Compliance of Portuguese SUMOL+COMPAL.
- .- An interview with Joaquín Ruiz Echauri, Insurance and Reinsurance area head partner at Hogan Lovells Spain.
- .- Our Portugal Private Equity section: a view from foreign investor Tariq El-Asad, founder of Tamea International, on the future of investments in Portugal.
- .- An interview with three lawyers, from different generations and backgrounds where we asked them how they perceive the new reality that comes with the "new law."
- .- Our Young & Unstoppable section with Natalia Tamames, a specialist in Entertainment law.
- .- External contributions from Women in a Legal World (on Art law), Association of Corporate Counsel (with Ana Buitrago, Amazon's Legal director), World Compliance Association and expert opinions.

The magazine is now available in English and Spanish.
