Latham & Watkins and Garrigues have advised Lineage Logistics Holdings, a global firm specialised in the temperature-controlled logistics industry, on the acquisition of Transportes Fuentes.

By this deal, Lineage Logistics seeks to strengthen its presence in cold storage distribution in the main markets of southern and western Europe by incorporating the fleet of more than 500 vehicles and trailers, the 6 logistics centres, the refrigerated warehouse and the service platform of Transportes Fuentes, which has a presence in Murcia, Galicia, Madrid, Navarra, Valencia and the Netherlands.

In tax matters, the partner Iván Rabanillo and associate Ana Serrano provided advice; in public and regulatory law, the counsel José María Alonso and associates Leticia Sitges and Paloma Arizón; in labour law, the partner Naiara Rodríguez-Escudero and trainee María Goñi; and in real estate, associate Luis López.

Garrigues acted with Luis Lopez.
