Lawyou has hired a new partner, David Martínez Guardia (pictured), who specialises in labour law, claims against the administration and public procurement.

Martínez, who worked at Abdón Pedrajas, has dual experience in labour law, as he worked as a company and trade union lawyer and also in administrative law as a public employee and lawyer in this sector.

In addition, he has advised foundations and associations and has experience in the public administration as a technician in the general administration and legal branch.
