Lisbon-headquartered law firm Miranda has incorporated Oporto firm RPC – Rios, Pinho & Cristo Sociedade de Advogados.

RPC, which has four partners and five associates, specialises in a range of practice areas including corporate, banking, tax, restructuring, employment, real estate and sport.

The firm's four partners are Paulo Rios de Oliveira, João Coelho de Pinho, Susana Rios de Oliveira, and Miguel Cristo - while all four lawyers will make the move, only João Coelho de Pinho and Susana Rios de Oliveira will become partners at Miranda.

The integration of RPC means Miranda now has 12 lawyers in its Oporto office.

Earlier this year, Miranda recruited PLMJ public law partner Pedro Melo and PLMJ senior associate Maria Ataíde Cordeiro.
