Net Craman has expanded its tax department with the incorporation of Susana Blasco Jordana, as new partner.

Susana joins with a team of two people which is formed by Marta Cuello and Andrea Ibáñez, lawyer and economist respectively, and both with extensive experience in the tax and fiscal area.

Susana, a graduate in Law, Master in tax law by the Centro de Estudios Financieros, Master in Financial Taxation by the IAF, and member of the AEDAF, joins the firm as a partner to manage, specifically, the corporate taxation and compliance area.

She has a long professional career, acquired in the tax department of several prestigious firms. Her professional career has been mainly focused on recurrent tax advice to large and medium-sized companies in their usual national and international transactions, analysis of operations for VAT purposes, as well as in the performance of tax due diligence in the framework of restructuring or sale of companies, as well as in the framework of tax compliance to detect potential tax risks.

Tomás Lamarca, managing partner of the department, comments "we are convinced that through the incorporation of Susana and her team, Net Craman expands and consolidates the firm's services in a field that has become one of the essential tools for companies when implementing the necessary mechanisms to avoid tax risks".
