Devesa & Calvo has appointed Luis Ángel Garrido (pictured), a lawyer specialised in labour law, who has more than 8 years of experience at PwC.

Garrido has a law degree from the UA and a Master in tax & legal from the Esade Business School in Barcelona. He also has many years of experience as labour lawyer in matters such as social litigation, ERTes and EREs, collective bargaining, equality plans, labour due diligence and recurring advice to major national and international companies.

Through this incorporation, the Alicante-based firm seeks to continue its expansion, after opening an office in Madrid a few months ago and looking forward to cover the entire national territory.

"I am very proud to be able to join a firm with a great track record that has a team of colleagues of great technical quality and that has a clear vocation for expansion," said Luis Ángel Garrido, the new incorporation of Devesa & Calvo.
