The lawyer, Nicolás de Gaviria (pictured), has officially become the new Managing Partner of Deloitte Legal. Although de Gaviria joined the firm in 1997 and was made Partner in 2011, he has now become Managing Partner with more than 600 lawyers under his belt.

De Gaviria holds a law degree from the Universidad Complutense with a master's degree in taxation from the Centro de Estudios Financieros and a PDD from IESE Business School.

Throughout his career, he worked in restructuring processes at an international level with clients mainly in the tourism, hotel and services sector. This, has been his main area of expertise, where he has years of experience working with large national and international business groups.

"The challenge is both enormous and exciting, given the current situation of the legal profession. The transformation we are undergoing at all levels, from the economic and social situation, to regulatory changes and the need to innovate and adapt our procedures to new technologies, all point to an exciting road ahead," said the new Managing Partner of Deloitte Legal, Nicolás de Gaviria.

Alongside him, María Guinot, Willy de Molina and José María Gómez Rosende have also been appointed as new Partners responsible for legal, tax and commercial, respectively.
