The October issue of Iberian Lawyer is now available for free download

In this issue, Iberian Lawyer offers its research about the top 50 lawyers from some of the most relevant practice areas in the Iberian Peninsula. Also, we are obliged to “celebrate” the 2020 Labour Awards in Spain through these pages, but without detracting from the substance of these awards; the recognition of the lawyers and expert firms in Labour Law that surpass themselves every day to be the best in a very competitive sector that faces, today more than ever, complex and extravagant challenges.

We talked with María Rodríguez Pardo, Legal director of Suntory Beverage & Food Spain, about brands and about their defence work by companies’ Legal advisers in the consumer sector. Iberian Lawyer meets Joana Martins Mendes, head of Legal of Finerge, the leading Portuguese group in the wind energy production market whose presence in our country has grown significantly in recent months, who tells us about the company's new projects.

Other features include:

.- An analysis of the role of hedge funds in the economic crisis by Sixto de la Calle, from Eversheds Sutherland Nicea.

- .- A review of the reality of the gaming sector with Alberto Rodríguez, senior lawyer in the Corporate department of Bird & Bird.
- .- A close look at the new regulations regarding online gaming advertising, which are hoped to be approved this month, by José María Baños, partner and founder at Letslaw.
