James Dixon (pictured) has joined Ontier as a partner in the London office.

At Ontier, Dixon will represent companies and high-net-worth individuals in a range of multi-jurisdictional disputes. He has a history of acting for clients on a range of commercial, international litigation, including shareholder disputes and fund disputes. He has also acted for companies, shareholders and insolvency practitioners in cross-border insolvency litigation and arbitration. His previous BVI firm acted as BVI Special Counsel to the Trustee of Bernard Madoff Investment Securities LLC and the Estate of Bernard Madoff in connection with Madoff's multibillion-dollar Ponzi scheme.

Derek Stinson, managing partner of Ontier's London office, says: "We are delighted to welcome James to our growing partnership in London. His in-depth international experience will neatly augment our existing expertise and provide additional strategic support for our clients involved in cross-border disputes".
