Pérez y Cía. Group, a Spanish Logistic and maritime company, has appointed Enrique Aznar as its new Head of Corporate Strategy and M&A

He joins from Bank of America where he has been working as an Investment Banking associate for the last three years. Previously, Enrique worked at Bank of America Merrill Lynch. He started his career (intern) at prestigious law firms such as Clifford Chance and Garrigues.

Enrique is a Law graduate from the Universidad Pontificia Comillas ICAI-ICADE and he got an LLM from the same university. He did the Official Master's degree for Admission to the Bar from UNIR Universidad Internacional de La Rioja.

Pérez y Cía. Group is a company focused on the maritime and logistics sector since its founding in 1853. On his appointment, the company stated: "He will be focused on analysing, monitoring, and executing different market opportunities that can contribute to consolidate growth. Enrique's incorporation shows Pérez y Cía. Group's commitment towards sustainable growth and long-term vision."

From his side, Enrique Aznar (pictured) said: "I am very grateful for the trust shown by Javier Ferrer and Gonzalo Pérez-Maura, and I am honoured to be able to become part of the story of this group. The maritime and shipping market is evolving at a very fast pace, and we believe it is important to be focused while maintaining a clear path towards consolidating our growth. The establishment of a dedicated Strategy and M&A team ensures the duly execution of our strategic plans and broadens our scope towards consolidating sustainable long-term growth for the company."
