PRA – Raposo, Sá Miranda & Associados, has expanded to Madeira, becoming the only Portuguese law firm with a 100% national identity. This opening symbolises the growth and consolidation of the firm, which now has seven offices spread across the country: Évora, Faro, Funchal, Leiria, Lisbon, Ponta Delgada and Porto.

The new office in Funchal will be under the responsibility of partner Daniel Torres Gonçalves (pictured), who considers that, “Madeira not only has great potential, but is also in a stage of great dynamics, both economically and technologically, in which PRA fits perfectly. We believe that, with the opening of the Funchal office, PRA will establish itself as a reference law firm in the Autonomous Region, placing us at the forefront of regional economic dynamics.” Accompanying the partner is a team of four local lawyers - Gustavo França Pitão, Diogo Freitas, António Santos and Ricardo Pinto Pereira.

In the words of the managing partner of PRA, Miguel Miranda, “PRA Madeira will have, in the short term, a strong relevance in the regional law market and contribute to increase the capacity of advising our current clients and new clients in the Autonomous Region, strengthening PRA's regional footprint and prestige.”
