

RCD CONSOLIDATES ITS GROWTH IN SEVILLE AND MOVES ITS OFFICES TO TORRE SEVILLA

Posted on 16/05/2024

Category: Background

Tags: Adolf Rousaud, dx2, Ignasi Costas, Juan Carlos Gómez Galiano, rcd, Torre Sevilla

Law firm RCD has announced the relocation of its offices from the Andalusian capital to Torre Sevilla. After two years since the opening of the Seville headquarters, the firm consolidates its growth in the city by moving to larger offices located in a technological and innovative space that fits perfectly with the objectives and values of the firm.

Torre Sevilla

Torre Sevilla is the tallest skyscraper in Andalusia and a benchmark in the high-end office market with modern spaces equipped with the latest technologies. With this new location, RCD reaffirms its commitment to growth in a region where it already has two offices, Seville and Cordoba, in a clear commitment to innovation and in line with its commitment to sustainability. Torre Sevilla is a clear example of sustainable construction as it has been awarded the LEED Gold seal, which rewards good environmental practices in the construction of the building.

It should be noted that, in addition to the 18 floors of offices, the complex also includes a complementary offer of shopping, restaurants, services, gymnasium and culture, and a five-star hotel with different meeting rooms and spaces for corporate events.

Technology and Vanguard

Adolf Rousaud, co-managing partner of RCD, values the move: "With this new headquarters, we get a new space that combines technology and vanguard, perfect for the development of our objectives, reaffirming our commitment to a region in which we have two offices, a consolidated team of high level and a solid client base to which we wish to continue providing our legal services".

"We are not only improving in space. This new office in Seville allows us to continue growing according to the current and future needs of the firm in Andalusia. This move also ratifies our commitment to excellence and innovation, while at the same time it has a favorable and direct impact on two of the firm's transversal axes: clients and talent," says Ignasi Costas, co-managing partner of RCD.

"We are very pleased that an international law firm like RCD, with 4 offices and more than 400 professionals in Spain and operating in more than 30 cities around the world, trusts Torre Sevilla to establish its headquarters in Seville. A company that joins our business community made up of top-level firms in the fields of consulting, law, renewable energies, online banking and telecommunications, together with the Antares Chamber Club of the Chamber of Commerce of Seville, which provides the connection with the local fabric," said Juan Carlos Gómez Galiano, manager of the Torre Sevilla complex.

Growth in Spain

The opening of the Seville office took place in April 2022, joining the existing offices in Madrid, Barcelona and Valencia, followed by Seville and, more recently, Cordoba. This change of location in the Andalusian capital is a step forward in the solid expansion and development plan that in recent years has materialized with the implementation of various actions that have allowed RCD to keep on the path of growth.