SRS Advogados has advised Automaise on a €1 million seed investment round led by HCapital and with the participation of investors Bright Pixel and Armilar Venture Partners

Automaise is a Portuguese startup that has developed a low-code platform that enables the building of automation solutions with artificial intelligence (AI). This capital injection is aimed at expanding the business in Europe and the United States and strengthening the team. This is already the second investment round raised by this startup in less than two years. Automaise has already implemented its technology in companies such as Altice, CTT, Leroy Merlin, Continente Online and Caravela Seguros.

“SRS Advogados has been consistently investing in providing legal advice to startups by a dedicated and specialised team, partnering with startups in the various stages of their evolution and growth, standing out in the Portuguese market as the first law firm to create the first startup acceleration programme in 2018, STARTUPLAB. The know-how and experience of our Private Equity and Venture Capital area combined with this specialisation, places SRS Advogados in an excellent position to support our clients in these investment processes”, highlights Gustavo Ordonhas Oliveira.
