RocaJunyent and KPMG Abogados have advised on the acquisition of Firmaprofesional by the Logalty group.

Firmaprofesional is a global signature operator that issues digital certificates and generates a series of value-added services for the market.

On the other hand, Logalty acts in the market as a trusted service provider. It guarantees the legal security of online transactions with proof by interposition. It offers e-procurement and certified electronic notification and communication services.

The purchase involves integrating a portfolio of a thousand clients that will allow Logalty to create geographical synergies and grow in areas such as public administration, education and healthcare.
