

WHAT ACTION SHOULD ARBITRATORS TAKE IF THEY SUSPECT CORRUPTION?

Posted on 16/11/2015

Category: Videos

An arbitrator who is part of a panel of arbitrators, and who suspects that a party may have been involved in corruption, faces the problem of deciding whether to raise their concerns with their fellow arbitrators - who may be based in other jurisdictions - or to simply go ahead and report the issue, says Peter Rees QC.